Culver City – May 24, 2007: On June 6 the public is invited to join the faculty, staff and students of Culver City High School’s Academy of Visual and Performing Arts (AVPA) at an Open House. The event begins in the Robert Frost Auditorium (4401 Elenda Ave., in Culver City) at 2:45 p.m. with a brief performance by CCUSD students participating in Music Day, a full day of music exploration scheduled for that same day. The Open House will continue until 5:00 p.m. During the Open House, potential students, parents and the public will have an informal opportunity to tour AVPA’s facilities and meet current faculty and students. Break out sessions with the creative directors from each AVPA department – Art, Dance, Film, Music and Theater – will offer answers to any questions about this rigorous after-school program available to high school students interested in the arts. A more formal information meeting for prospective parents and students will be held from 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. in the Frost Auditorium. Applications for admission and a brochure about the Academy will be distributed at the information meeting.

With over 200 students enrolled in 50 classes and workshops taught by 30 faculty members, and students participating in over 25 productions, exhibitions, performances, and special events, the AVPA has been a busy place in 2006-07. According to Co-Executive Director Tony Spano, “This has been an exciting year for us and we’re looking forward to this Open House as an opportunity to share our enthusiasm about our current program and where we’re headed in the future. AVPA’s other Co-Executive Director, Kristine Hatanaka adds, “I’ve seen so many students blossom through our program. AVPA not only lets students develop their creativity through arts education, but it provides a community where they develop deep, lasting friendships, as well as a sense of responsibility and commitment. Our students have many opportunities to work alongside professionals in the arts and entertainment industry unlike any public high school in Los Angeles. And we also try to have a little fun!
